

Pearson eCollege Partners with Institutions to Foster Academic Success

Institutions that work with Pearson eCollege are referred to as Educational Partners (instead of customers). Our partnership approach to business allows your institution to focus on developing and administering high-quality programs that students complete, while we maintain the reliable online next-generation learning environment.

Integrated Education Technology Solutions and Services

Pearson eCollege provides institutions and schools with integrated solutions that advance and improve the teaching and learning experience. Pearson eCollege has been helping colleges, universities and K-12 schools to deliver innovative education since 1996 and is now backed by the world's largest education technology company — Pearson. Our integrated technology and services, educational content solutions and multi-level user support all separate Pearson eCollege from other technology solutions companies and lead to greater measurable success for academic programs.

Why Pearson eCollege?

Composable Learning Environments

Unique, On-Demand Solution Extends Education Technology Options

Pearson eCollege's on-demand Software as a Service (SaaS) platform requires no software installation or maintenance and provides all of the hardware, software and networking needed to power successful, on-demand teaching and learning environments.

This learning platform is open and composable enough to extend current education systems to include more advanced applications within a reliable, scalable and stable eLearning environment. Our stability and integration greatly reduce the operational and financial risks associated with mission-critical education technologies while providing measurable results.

Curriculum Solutions Enhanced Content Options

Backed by the world's undisputed leader in education publishing, Pearson eCollege's content solutions allow institutions and schools to offer enhanced curriculum options using rich, interactive content. Leveraging our relationship with Pearson and other industry-leading education publishers, schools can deliver complete program choices for increased and measurable student success.

Additionally, Pearson eCollege's integrated technology platform provides multiple delivery formats (online, mobile and offline), allowing schools to serve comprehensive education that provide students the information they need anytime, anywhere.

Multi-Level User Support Empowering Educators and Students

With Pearson eCollege, educators can receive support from account and administrative consultants, experts in education technology solutions. In addition, students can contact experienced technical consultants via phone, e-mail or live chat 24 hours a day, seven days a week. These personalized levels of support ensure that schools can continue to grow without unnecessary resource increases.

We offer dedicated support options for all users, empowering educators and students to achieve their goals. Schools can leverage the support components their technology solutions need, customizing the appropriate options for their users.
